Hassan Home of Hope GIRLS EDUCATION IN SOUTHERN INDIA

Family Teams: Where Love is the Answer Schools: Where Excellence is the Goal

Hassan Home of Hope is a boarding school for girls from rural areas of Karnataka, India. There are 90 girls, ages 6-16 living together receiving opportunities to develop their talents through an academic education. These girls live in family teams learning gardening, animal tending, cooking, and traditional crafts. They come from broken homes with financial problems and places that are unsafe for girls. The Salesian Sisters of Don Bosco and lay teachers provide education and life skills. This charity compliments the work of Home of Hope India-USA located in Wilmington, NC.

Here is how you can Help:

Desks and benches-- $100 per set will accommodate about 10 girls

School supplies: paper, pencils, & scissors-- $100 will furnish a classroom of 20 students for a year

Matriculation Fees, School Uniforms, sports gear: Any amount will foster these girls' education

Hassan School rooms for these bright eager learners have plastic chairs. They need tables and supplies for writing and drawing. Can you help?

Hello, from Hassan Home of Hope. The girls greet their American readers of Friends of India.

This school does have Internet and the girls are studying English. They are eager to respond to friends overseas. Gather some friends and collect funds and you will hear from these grateful learners.
